INVISTA Hires Kristin Stallings as Product Designer

Kennesaw, Ga., Feb. 1, 2015 – INVISTA Commercial is pleased to welcome Kristin Stallings as product designer for the Antron® brand. Stallings will lead fabric development efforts to support commercial mill product development teams with creating innovative carpet styles for specifiers and end users. She will refine and execute the product line vision to highlight Antron® fiber capabilities to carpet mills. Stallings reports to Cathy Forsthoffer, mill sales director.

“Kristin has an impressive background in textile design and brings unique, forward-thinking insight to the Antron® team and our customers,” said Cathy Forsthoffer. “At INVISTA, we continue to make investments in talent and our operations to create value for our customers and position the Antron® brand as the high-performance fiber of choice.”

Stallings most recently served as product designer with Beaulieu Group where she was a lead designer for award-winning products at NeoCon 2014.
