University of Tennessee,
Neyland Stadium,
The Peyton Manning Locker Room & The Lauricella Center for Letter Winners

Project Summary:

The University of Tennessee desired a renovation of the Neyland Stadium Locker Room to motivate players and heighten game day spirit, support the team's functional needs and entice visiting recruits. The broad expanse of open floor space quickly became a major design element. By re-coloring a running line carpet style, Moki by Masland Contract, bordered with Color Canvas by Mannington Commercial and manufactured with Antron® carpet fiber, the designers created a high-impact, visually charged custom carpet, which became the foundation for graphics, wall colors and branding elements. The stripes are an intentional link between the locker room and playing field, leading the way to the player's entrance onto the field.
